1. WELCOME/ROLL CALL

Ron Leffler welcomed members to the final day of the Mid-Winter Workshop. Roll call was taken by the Secretariat.

2. PRESENTATION OF AWARD

Mr. Leffler welcomed Jody Taylor who retired as Compact Administrator for the state of Idaho the end of January. Mr. Leffler thanked her for her loyal and dedicated service to AJCA throughout all the years she has been with the ICJ office in Idaho. Mr. Leffler stated that Ms. Taylor never hesitated to accept an assignment and always did an excellent job in everything she had undertaken. Ms. Taylor served several terms as the AJCA Secretary and was on the Executive Board. Because Ms. Taylor and her husband were in the area, she was invited to this meeting. Ron Leffler presented Ms. Taylor with a AJCA Lifetime Membership Award. Ms. Taylor thanked the members for the award and for their friendship over the years.

3. ANNUAL MEETING

Ryan Pinto of the Washington ICJ Office provided an update on the planning for the Annual Meeting in Olympia, Washington. The meeting will be held August 4-7, 2004. An Executive Board meeting and new ICJ staff training will take place on August 3, 2004. Mr. Pinto said that Olympia is about 60 miles outside of Seattle, and he is looking into getting some type of transportation from the airport to the hotel in Olympia. More information will be forthcoming.

4. ADJOURNMENT

Mr. Leffler expressed gratitude on behalf of AJCA to both Linda Bowmer and Molli Davis of the Nevada ICJ office for hosting the Mid-Winter Meeting. Hosting a meeting of this size, in addition to keeping up with all of the day-to-day work in running the ICJ office is very challenging and he commended them both for the excellent job they have done. Ms. Bowmer thanked Molli Davis who, she said, assumed most of the work in hosting the meeting and gave her a small gift of appreciation.

Mr. Leffler encouraged AJCA members to remember the theme of this year's meeting, "Keeping the Dream Alive From State to State." He challenged members to continue to do excellent work because they do have an impact on the lives of the juveniles they serve as well as their families and communities. He thanked members for their attendance and participation at the workshop and wished them safe travel back home. The meeting was then adjourned.
